

About Glenn Lytle

Chief Strategy Officer

A native to North East Ohio, Glenn Lytle graduated from Baldwin Wallace College in 1997 with a Major in Criminal Justice and a minor in Business Administration and Organization. After a few short years of selling in the telecommunications space, Glenn went on to leadership roles in some of the largest, fastest growing telecommunications companies in the United States. Most recently he was working as Regional Vice President for Comcast Business, building and rebuilding three separate teams within the business channel, driving some of the highest growth, market penetration and operational metrics throughout the company. Glenn also currently serves on the board for the Pittsburgh Technology Council as well as the Chairman of the board for The Technology Council of Pennsylvania.

Although Glenn has seen great success as a corporate executive for Fortune 500 companies, he has remained very involved with real estate investing over the years and closing in on almost $1M in profits from these investments. Glenn has joined the founder of Freeland Ventures, Josh Cantwell, as a partner to manage the investor relations which will drive private equity into the SREC community to fuel real estate flips throughout the United States. Glenn proudly calls Cleveland home again where he resides with his wife, Julie, and three children.